A man on the moon

On 21st July 1969, American astronaut Neil Armstrong opened the door of the lunar module, the Eagle, and walked outside. He was on the moon. He was the first man in history to walk on the moon. It was a fantastic moment.

A few minutes later, Buzz Aldrin was the second man on the moon. Armstrong and Aldrin had a camera. They used it for photos and also filmed a short film about their short time on the moon. They also collected information and talked to the American president, Richard Nixon, on the phone. Nixon said it was an 'historic phone call'. They placed an American flag there and went back to Earth.

21st July 1969 was a very important and exciting day. On Earth, a lot of people listened to their radios all day because they wanted to hear the news about the men on the moon. And everybody in the world watched the news to see the first pictures of the men on the moon. Was it true? Was it real? People didn't believe what they saw. And today, some people over 50 can remember where they were when Armstrong walked on the moon.

In November 1969, the Americans travelled to the moon again and everybody watched. In the 1970s, astronauts went on five more trips. But after that, the American government decided that they didn't want to spend millions and millions of dollars on trips to the moon. The last man on the moon was there in 1972.

Example: Armstrong first walked on the moon on July _____.

- A 21st B 22nd C 23rd

- The first trip to the moon was in _____.
A 1969 B 1970 C 1972
- Only _____ walked on the moon on that first trip.
A one man B two men
C three men
- In 1969, the Americans made _____ to the moon.
A one trip B two trips
C three trips
- Before they stopped going to the moon, American astronauts went on _____ trips in total.
A three B five C seven

- The last trip to the moon was in _____.
A 1969 B 1970 C 1972

- Man Hello Katerina, and thanks for talking to us today. So, you went to London for a year as part of your university course. Is that right?
- Girl Yes, I say a year, but it was actually only ten months.
- Man I see. And did you like living in London?
- Girl I loved it and all the other cities I visited too! They were fantastic but I hated the English weather...it rains a lot!
- Man Oh yes! Did you make a lot of new friends when you were there?
- Girl There were students from lots of countries at my university and anyway there are people from all over the world in London. I think that's why it's so interesting! I have lots of new friends now.
- Man That's lovely! Was it hard work being a student in London?
- Girl It was, and we didn't have a lot of free time. But that's OK. I love studying. I didn't go to many parties when I was there, but my friends went out a lot!
- Man Do you think London is an expensive city?
- Girl Yeah, I didn't buy any new clothes at all and we usually had dinner at home because restaurants are quite expensive.
- Man Right...so I think you had a good time in London.
- Girl Yes, I did and I want to go back there one day. Maybe I can work there when I finish university.
- Man Well, good luck!
- Girl Thanks!
