Try	What did she do after her car broke down?	What did he do to help him sleep?
	She tried to find help.	He tried drinking tea, taking sleeping pills, etc.
	I heard she hasn't managed to give up smoking.	She gets back ache. I think it's her high heels.
	She tried to give up, but found it too hard.	She should try wearing flat shoes.
Go on	Did she go to university after finishing school?	Did he stop talking after the play started?
	Yes, she went on to study at university.	No, he went on talking.
	Did you go anywhere after the restaurant?	Did he give up gambling after he lost his house?
	Yes, we went on (to go) to a club/bar.	No, he went on gambling?
Stop	Did he speak to you? He looked like he was in a hurry?	Does he still visit his grandmother now he lives in another town?
	No, he didn't stop to speak to me.	No, he stopped visiting her.
	No more driving. I'm tired and I need a coffee.	I heard she became a vegetarian five years ago.
	Let's stop to have a coffee.	Yes, she stopped eating meat five years ago.
Remember	Shall I remind you about your Mum's birthday?	Are you absolutely sure you posted the letter?
	No, I always remember to call her/send her a card.	Yes, I (clearly) remember posting it.
	You posted the letter, didn't you?	I don't think I saw Ben at the party.
	Yes, I remembered to post it.	I don't remember seeing him either.
Forget	Do you sometimes leave your wallet or phone at home?	You said the best day of your life was the day you met your partner.
	Yes, I always/sometimes/never forget to take my wallet or phone.	Yes, I'll never forget meeting him/her.
	The boss said you didn't tell her the important news.	So the first time you flew by plane was an incredible experience?
	(Oh dear) I forgot to tell her.	Yes, I'll never forget flying for the first time.

Bingo card one

forget	try
remember	stop
go on	forget
stop	go on
try	remember

Bingo card two

go on	go on
remember	forget
stop	try
try	remember
forget	stop