4. READING

Read the following statements and decide which one applies to each person. Write S for Shirley, D for Daniel, P for Pam or Z for Zack.

Shirley

When I got my first job, there weren't many choices available for women. At the time, girls were expected to stay at home and help raise the children and take care of the house. So the only job that was available for me then was as a waitress at a local restaurant. My parents knew the owner, so he agreed to let me work there a couple nights a week. I started working there when I was 16. My parents thought I was too young, but I was really excited to get out of the house and make my own money. It was a good job, and I had a really nice boss. Plus, it was fun, because all my friends from high school would come in the evenings and I was able to hang out with people I knew while I worked. It was the perfect job!

Daniel

I spent a lot of time in my dad's dental office as a child. Even when I was very young, I understood how things worked there and I helped out whenever I could. So, everyone knew that someday I would follow in my father's footsteps and take over the family business. After I got my degree in Dentistry, I started working in my dad's practice as his partner until he retired a few years later. I learnt a lot from my dad and from watching him in surgery. I learnt how to love my job and be really good at it. I'm glad I didn't have to go to a bunch of interviews. Now, my son helps out at the office and it seems he has already decided on his future career. What can I say? Dentistry runs in our blood.

Pam

My first job in the 'real world,' was really hard to get. I don't know what the problem was; I mean I had my Master's degree and all the necessary qualifications and I was hard working. Still, no one wanted to hire me. Maybe it's because I had so little real-world experience. I went to at least three job interviews every week for more than six months. It was a lot of driving around for nothing and it was very tiring. Not having a job for that long was really stressful, because I kept eating away at my savings so I could pay rent and bills. Eventually, I did manage to find a job with a good company. My salary was a lot more than I expected, so I guess in the end, the wait finally paid off!

Zack

I consider myself pretty lucky when it comes to my life. I'm 22, I've just graduated from university, and I already have a great job. I design websites. It's funny, actually. The day I got my degree, I put my CV on Monster.com, and within a few hours, I had a few companies interested in me. I decided on one and we had a brief phone interview and that was that. I e-mailed them my portfolio, they liked what they saw and hired me. They didn't even need to meet me! The best part is I can work from home and they pay my salary right into my bank account and I never even have to leave my house. The only problem is I still live with my parents. So it's really time I did something about that. I'm tired of my friends making fun of me for my mum still cooking for me and doing my laundry! But hey, with this great new job, now I can afford to live on my own.

1. This person still depends on other people.

2. This person did something that was not very common at the time.

3. This person started working in high school.

4. This person didn't have to have an interview.

5. This person had to wait a long time to get a job.

6. This person got a job through the Internet.

7. This person's lack of experience might have been the reason they couldn't get a job.

8. This person improved by working with someone else.

LISTENING TRANSCRIPT

1. Woman: How's your new job as an assistant going?
Man: It's OK. It's typical office stuff.
Woman: So a lot of filing and faxing?
Man: Occasionally. Mostly I just answer phones.

2. Girl: Have you decided what to get your mum for her birthday?
Boy: Well, she loves reading, so I was thinking of getting her a book.
Girl: How boring! Why don't you get her a nice pair of earrings?
Boy: I got her earrings last year.
Girl: How about a skirt then?
Boy: My mum's really difficult when it comes to clothes. No, I think I'm going to stay with my first choice.

3. Woman: You should sign up for the cooking class and make your wife happy.
Man: Actually, if it were up to me, I'd be doing the film class.
Woman: It's not up to you?
Man: Nope. Mary wants to take a class with me and she has decided on dancing.

4. Man: I'm bored, let's do something. Fancy getting some coffee?
Woman: Hmm, I'm actually kind of hungry.
Man: Me too! Do you want to have an early dinner?
Woman: I'm not that hungry. Let's just get a snack.

5. Man: Hello Alex. It's James. Listen, I know I said I'd come over to your place at 6 o'clock but something's come up at work and I have to stay here until 6:30, which means I can't be at your house before 7. If that's too late for you, let me know and we'll arrange to meet some other time.
