Benicassim!

Benicassim is the perfect summer music festival. It's in Valencia, Spain, every year. The festival is now sixteen years old, and it's very popular. For four days in July, fans can listen to rock and techno from all around the world. The bands play in the evening and all night, so you can spend the day on the beach. Benicassim is next to the sea!

The festival is €175, including camping. There are other events at the festival too. There are art exhibitions and a cinema. You can also do a course at The Jaume I University too – so it's not just for fun! For food, there are a lot of restaurants at the festival, so you can stay there all the time. Benicassim isn't the only Spanish music festival. There's also Primavera Sound in Barcelona. But for a lot of people (like me) Benicassim's certainly number one!
