My journey to work Celine Canivet

I live near Paris and I commute by bicycle. I live in a village in the west of the city and there's no bus. So, every morning, I ride my bicycle along the river Marne. It's very beautiful. I'm in the fresh air and there are always boats on the river. Then I take the train into the city centre. I start work very early so there aren't usually a lot of people on it and I can sit down with my newspaper.

Before work I usually have time for a croissant and a coffee and then I go to my office. I'm a secretary in a courier company: we deliver things to companies by motorbike. It's a good job, but my life is going to change next month, because I've got a new job. I'm going to work as a flight attendant on a plane. The airport's a long way from my house so I have to drive there in the car ... and I'm going to take my driving test next week! I'm a bit scared about it, to be honest!
